Principles of Memory

Anxiety of any kind fear of being called on, etc.
learning stops
in the ^{hippocampus} cortex.
highest level of learning chemicals are secreted which wipe out the activity in this cortex.

Peter Russell - The Brain Book -

Patterns - Organization

Short term + long term memory.

We can increase how much the brain can hold chunks for a long term retention.
Most brains can hold 7 chunks.

Modalities - Visual - auditory - Kinesthetic

Active Practice

Long Term -

Every 8-10 min for retention + make it a chunk - students stay on track better

Lecture Plus

Hook to start it off with

Chunking

Active practice every 10 - 15 min.

Meyers

Indicator

Extraversion + Introversion thinking

1. How people think + process language.
2. Extraverts - think aloud - that is their preferred thinking mode. They have a tendency to get more ideas.

Introversion - Reflect until it is about 80-90% completed
They are not comfortable until their thought is completed

What do we do to give equal access.

Responsive Behaviors - Basic Communication Strategy

1. Silence - wait until wait time is over. Proximity is good.
2. With acceptance
3. " clarifying
4. Facilitating the data

1. Silence

When students give out answer - keep quiet + let students keep thinking.

2. Paraphrase - kids like it. "What I hear you say is this" or tell them to clarify their thinking

3. Clarifying - explaining with clear examples.

4. Facilitating - tell them or show them

Numbered Heads

Groups of 4 - number off. Ask the whole class the question. They have equal access to the questions.

Late students
